For Immediate Release

Daubert Chemical and its Parent Company, Daubert Industries, Inc., recognized for two key honors

Daubert Industries, Inc. and its subsidiaries, Daubert Chemical Company, Inc., ECP Incorporated and Daubert VCI, Inc. were recently recognized by Crain's Chicago Business and selected as one of "Chicago's Largest Privately Held Companies". A second honor came from American Registry, LLC, which recognizes excellence in top businesses and professionals across the United States. Daubert has been added to its "Registry of Business Excellence" for 2011.

Daubert spokesperson, Glenn Bilek, Vice President, Daubert Chemical Co., Inc. commented on the recognition: "We are so pleased. What an honor to be recognized by Crain's Chicago Business and American Registry. They only select a small number of companies. We're proud to be a part of this select group. These two honors are proof of our corporate mission...to help our customers not only produce products according to their specification, but to strives to add greater value by helping them produce them better than before."

Today, Daubert Chemical Company, Inc. formulates corrosion preventives, adhesives, sealants, sound deadening and specialty coatings. The products it manufactures are sold globally to the automobile, transportation, rail, general industrial, aerospace, marine, furniture and woodworking marketplaces.

Daubert VCI, Inc. manufactures products for a wide array of industrial and military customers to protect valuable metal parts against corrosion.

ECP Incorporated has served over 14 thousand automobile dealers since 1969 with a diversified line of products and programs that include vehicle appearance protection products and protective coatings. They also offer highly recognized aftermarket brands of vehicle detailing, prep and supplies.
